Description

In an organization, we can have différent persons manage contracts:

- contract xxx : mister alpha
- contract yyy : mister beta & mister alpha

So add possibility to define on contract item to which people send the end contract notification

Better solution I think : define teams on contracts (manager or not).

Actually notifications are send by entities, show to manage sending notification to team (or only managers). Need to review or create a new notification system to permit to send individual notifications on contracts.
